

A Newsletter Created by Service Learning Students
at MDC Wolfson Campus
Articles written by
ENC 1102 students

Newsletter

Vol. 1 Issue 6 Addendum

Hello again. I would like to pass on the following message from the ENC1102 students in Professor Judy Tarver's class who researched, wrote and edited articles for the CROPS newsletter. It is because of them that this beautiful newsletter exists. Thank you!

Through detailed articles, insightful books, and graphic documentaries, we examined, frequently with disgust (if not downright nausea), how food is raised, harvested, altered, transported, and marketed. You need to question where your food comes from and realize that you can make a difference with every bite you take. Thanks for sharing this term with us.

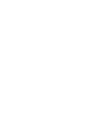

Carlos Arias
Carlos Bernabel
Aria Brand-Mercado
Darwin Chacon
Larry Chirinos
Lyonel Desamour
Chriscaldo Dessalines
Diana Encalada
Ahmed Figuerola

Cynthia Flores
Yanisleidy Garcia
Jasmine Glover
Sofia Gutierrez
LyLy Hernandez
Gretchen Lopez
Leonardo Madrigal
Shameka Meza
Yaima Noda

Gulliana Palomino
Gabriel Perez
Martha Perez
Zoilaamys Perez
Veron Pless
Christopher Thompson
German Vega
ed. Johanne Casseus

For more information about CROPS please contact us!

Phone: (305) 237-7119 • Email: crops@mdc.edu

(fr